THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

Florida, South Carolina and Louisiana

THE DEMOCRATIC TACTICS.

THE LATEST REBEL COMPLAINT

They Don't Want Troops at Washington

[Special Correspondence Boston Journal.]

WASHINGTON Nov 20, 1876

The Democrats Disheartened

Telegrams to the National Committee from Florida to-day represent the situation more satisfactory to Republicans who are there and in a position to know the attainable facts Since Saturday returns have been received from four more counties and no one of them did Democratic majorities come up to the figures which the Democrats have so stoutly claimed The effect of this has been exceedingly dispiriting to such Northern Democrats as have lately arrived and who came having full faith in the false returns which had been sent North Many Democrats have given up the contest as lost

Democratic Frauds Guarded Against

It is believed that a plan has been on foot to capture the returns from some remote precincts which the Democrats know are favorable to the Republicans, and measures have been taken to guard these returns until they can be protected by troops while on their way to the capital It is believed here that this arrival of the returns from four of the remaining Democratic counties, and the unfavorable showing they make for the opposition, has carried the Republican by the point where Democratic manipulations of the balance of returns can give the Republicans serious trouble

News From South Carolina

Several of the Democratic watchers have returned from South Carolina They report that they were greatly surprised at the indifference of the Democrats in that State to Tilden They seem to care nothing whatever for him in comparison to Hampton They cherish bitter feelings toward northern Democrats for conspiring with them to accomplish secession and then giving them no aid whatever when they were called in war They and their people have had enough of that, and leaders among them speak in great derision of utterances from Northern Democratic source which smack of war They say it was just so with their Northern friends before, up to the time when their assistance was wanted in the field

The Incomplete Ballots

Information here in regard to the omission of some names of electors from Republican ballots in one parish of Louisiana is to the effect that not enough of such ballots appear to affect the results in that parish all electors having majority even if those incomplete ballots shall be thrown out It is not believed however, that in any event the Returning Board would throw them aside since the house has decided here, all Democratic concurring, that it is perfectly competent and legal to take into consideration the evident intent of the voter in casting his ballot when it is found to be incomplete or informal

A Precedent

In the Forty-second Congress the Republican Election Committee made a unanimous report in favor of a Democratic sitting member, in the case of McKenzie, Republican, versus Braxton, Democrat, from the Seventh Virginia District The question considered at length in the report was one of giving full weight to the evident intent of voters where the ballot was incomplete or inaccurate All the Democrats in the House agreed to the doctrine and the House on the report of the Republican committee voted to not even pay the expenses of the contestant, who sought his seat on the ground of several hundreds incorrect ballots being thrown for a successful candidate, McCrary accepted the authority here on the contested elections present authority all holding the same views as the House in the above case In regard to receiving and counting the votes of all Republicans who actually attempted to vote in intimidated parishes and were prevented by violence or offers of violence, authorities are abundant as to the right to accept such votes upon the proper proof of being prevented from voting on the day of election

The results in Florida, South Carolina and Louisiana.

The following is the situation of in Florida, Louisiana and South Carolina according to the latest information received by Republicans here

In Florida

It has become clear that Hayes has an honest majority of the entire vote of the State The returns from the back country districts have disappointed the Democrats As a last resort the Democracy is endeavoring to prevent the Republican Governor from counting the returns according to the law. It does not now seem possible that the corrupt scheme of the Democrats can be successful. The returns from additional Democratic counties reduce the Democratic majorities below their estimates. It is shown that the Republican claims to the State are fully justified. The proof of Democratic fraud increases It is not expected that all the returns will be in this week. The Governor claims the right to canvass the vote under the old law of 1847.

In Louisiana

The action of the Democrats seems to practically concede the State to the Republicans. They must concede it if the votes secured by them by intimidation are not counted. They have not the slightest basis for hope without these votes are counted. The suggestions of a compromise, which come from Democratic sources, indicate the hopelessness of their cause. The proposition is that Hayes and Nichols shall be counted in. This proposition is in itself illegal, as the duties of the Returning Board are judicial. That Board is not composed of auctioneers, who have the vote of the State to sell to the highest bidder, or will consent to encourage any compromise under threats of revolution. The returns from forty out of fifty-seven parishes have been received [redacted] There will be about 9000 Republican majority. There will be Contests in at least twelve parishes. The districts in which there is no contest will under the law first be counted. That can probably be done in two days. After this the contested districts will be taken up and it will doubtless require until December 1 to dispose of them.

In South Carolina

The only hopes of the Democrats are placed in the Supreme Court All serious claims that the State has gone for Tilden must be abandoned, if the Democrats open up the subject of throwing out fraudulent votes in any one county as they have intimated they would do in Beaufort county there case is hopeless, for they are at least two counties in which enormous Democratic frauds can be proved Barnwell and Edgefield In Edgefield the returns show more Democratic votes then there are votes in the county Tilden has no chance from opening up this question and going behind the returns

Hampton Hopes

His hope placed in the decision of the Supreme Court The Democrats rely upon the personal hostility of Chief Justice Moses to Gov Chamberlain to influence his action as Judge They rely upon hatred and malice as motives of judicial action Gov Chamberlain it will be remembered once refused to certify to the election of the son of Chief Justice Moses as Judge The Democrats who greatly pushed him for his reform, are now branding him as little better than a bandit

The Democratic hope is that the Supreme Court will direct that the returns for the Governor and State officers be sent to the Legislature They claim that this should be done under a provision of the Constitution which they insist gives the Legislature the authority to determine as to the election of State officer This is contrary to every precedent in the State In the Legislature on the face of the returns the Democrats now have a majority of one and on the face of the returns also Hampton and Cleaves, the Democratic Governor have small majorities But there are fraudulent returns from one or two counties, which if purged would destroy Hampton's majority

The Confederates Feel Outraged.

The old rebel Democracy of Washington city are very much outraged at what they call the invasion of the National Capital by Federal troops There never has been a time since Buchanan left the White House that the appearance of a Federal uniform on the streets or a United States flag has not in like manner sent terror to their constitutional hearts There are no State rights in the District of Columbia to be violated, yet the apostles of State rights see in the appearance of a few hundred soldiers the destruction of State sovereignty A bayonet has the effect that a Northern newspaper had in the South in the old slave days It is savagely sputtered at as such was an infernal machine

The Sensitive Southerners

The rumor is abroad that there is a revolution on foot that the National Capitol is to be closely guarded that Guy Fawkes is in the cellar that somebody is going to put arsenic in the President's soup and a lucifer musket in the chair of the presiding officer of the Senate Some troops have come to the city A bow legged orderly rode by the White House this morning at a limping gallop, and his scrawny steed could scarcely stand A fat Lieutenant of artillery in the hotel corridor this evening bought a bouquet for his lady love There was a red stripe upon his pantaloons To the Democracy it typified gore There have been no more serious outward indications in the heart of the Capital of the Federal invasion of Washington than these But emotionalists are uttering notes of alarm They can hear the trumpets sounding in the gloom They declare it an outrage that in time of peace the President should order troops to the forts and barracks which the Government established for their accommodation long before the war of 1812

What the Troops are Wanted For

There are a few troops here, and a few more to come, and there no doubt may be enough ordered here to partly garrison the places in the vicinity of Washington which the Government since its foundation has provided for that purpose It is wise and prudent that some at least should come now for at present there are not troops enough here to mount guard at the fort on the river to protect the Government works from the incessant predatory assaults of the junk dealers If there is any political purpose in having the troops be it can be summarized in the word prudence Gen Grant intends to maintain his oath of office and to see to it that the laws are faithfully executed

The Whole Confederate Army Recognizing

Back of all these rumors and facts respecting the movements of troop there is one circumstance vaguely hinted at which is considered by some at least, in authority as having a painful significance That circumstance lies in the fact that throughout the entire country south of the Potomac river there are very many thousands of men well armed well drilled and thoroughly experienced in war who can be called together at the tap of the drum That apprehension is doubtless needless and sensational, but it evidently lies at the basis of what a Cabinet officer said to-day He was being interrogated by a gentleman in search of information That gentleman asked him if he had heard that there were any organizations in Baltimore or south of that whose ultimate purpose might possibly be hostile The Cabinet Minister without directly responding to the inquiry said "Have you? But the entire Confederate army is organized"

A Precedent

In the Forty-second Congress the Republican Election Committee made a unanimous report in favor of a Democratic sitting member, in the case of McKenzie, Republican, versus Braxton, Democrat, from the Seventh Virginia District The question considered at length in the report was one of giving full weight to the evident intent of voters where the ballot was incomplete or inaccurate All the Democrats in the House agreed to the doctrine and the House on the report of the Republican committee voted to not even pay the expenses of the contestant, who sought his seat on the ground of several hundreds incorrect ballots being thrown for a successful candidate, McCrary accepted the authority here on the contested elections present authority all holding the same views as the House in the above case In regard to receiving and counting the votes of all Republicans who actually attempted to vote in intimidated parishes and were prevented by violence or offers of violence, authorities are abundant as to the right to accept such votes upon the proper proof of being prevented from voting on the day of election

Several of the Democratic watchers have returned from South Carolina They report that they were greatly surprised at the indifference of the Democrats in that State to Tilden They seem to care nothing whatever for him in comparison to Hampton They cherish bitter feelings toward northern Democrats for conspiring with them to accomplish secession and then giving them no aid whatever when they were called in war They and their people have had enough of that, and leaders among them speak in great derision of utterances from Northern Democratic source which smack of war They say it was just so with their Northern friends before, up to the time when their assistance was wanted in the field

Information here in regard to the omission of some names of electors from Republican ballots in one parish of Louisiana is to the effect that not enough of such ballots appear to affect the results in that parish all electors having majority even if those incomplete ballots shall be thrown out It is not believed however, that in any event the Returning Board would throw them aside since the house has decided here, all Democratic concurring, that it is perfectly competent and legal to take into consideration the evident intent of the voter in casting his ballot when it is found to be incomplete or informal

A Precedent

In the Forty-second Congress the Republican Election Committee made a unanimous report in favor of a Democratic sitting member, in the case of McKenzie, Republican, versus Braxton, Democrat, from the Seventh Virginia District The question considered at length in the report was one of giving full weight to the evident intent of voters where the ballot was incomplete or inaccurate All the Democrats in the House agreed to the doctrine and the House on the report of the Republican committee voted to not even pay the expenses of the contestant, who sought his seat on the ground of several hundreds incorrect ballots being thrown for a successful candidate, McCrary accepted the authority here on the contested elections present authority all holding the same views as the House in the above case In regard to receiving and counting the votes of all Republicans who actually attempted to vote in intimidated parishes and were prevented by violence or offers of violence, authorities are abundant as to the right to accept such votes upon the proper proof of being prevented from voting on the day of election

The results in Florida, South Carolina and Louisiana.

The following is the situation of in Florida, Louisiana and South Carolina according to the latest information received by Republicans here

In Florida

It has become clear that Hayes has an honest majority of the entire vote of the State The returns from the back country districts have disappointed the Democrats As a last resort the Democracy is endeavoring to prevent the Republican Governor from counting the returns according to the law. It does not now seem possible that the corrupt scheme of the Democrats can be successful. The returns from additional Democratic counties reduce the Democratic majorities below their estimates. It is shown that the Republican claims to the State are fully justified. The proof of Democratic fraud increases It is not expected that all the returns will be in this week. The Governor claims the right to canvass the vote under the old law of 1847.

In Louisiana

The action of the Democrats seems to practically concede the State to the Republicans. They must concede it if the votes secured by them by intimidation are not counted. They have not the slightest basis for hope without these votes are counted. The suggestions of a compromise, which come from Democratic sources, indicate the hopelessness of their cause. The proposition is that Hayes and Nichols shall be counted in. This proposition is in itself illegal, as the duties of the Returning Board are judicial. That Board is not composed of auctioneers, who have the vote of the State to sell to the highest bidder, or will consent to encourage any compromise under threats of revolution. The returns from forty out of fifty-seven parishes have been received [redacted] There will be Contests in at least twelve parishes. The districts in which there is no contest will under the law first be counted. That can probably be done in two days. After this the contested districts will be taken up and it will doubtless require until December 1 to dispose of them.

The Democrats Disheartened

Telegrams to the National Committee from Florida to-day represent the situation more satisfactory to Republicans who are there and in a position to know the attainable facts Since Saturday returns have been received from four more counties and no one of them did Democratic majorities come up to the figures which the Democrats have so stoutly claimed The effect of this has been exceedingly dispiriting to such Northern Democrats as have lately arrived and who came having full faith in the false returns which had been sent North Many Democrats have given up the contest as lost

Democratic Frauds Guarded Against

It is believed that a plan has been on foot to capture the returns from some remote precincts which the Democrats know are favorable to the Republicans, and measures have been taken to guard these returns until they can be protected by troops while on their way to the capital It is believed here that this arrival of the returns from four of the remaining Democratic counties, and the unfavorable showing they make for the opposition, has carried the Republican by the point where Democratic manipulations of the balance of returns can give the Republicans serious trouble

News From South Carolina

Several of the Democratic watchers have returned from South Carolina They report that they were greatly surprised at the indifference of the Democrats in that State to Tilden They seem to care nothing whatever for him in comparison to Hampton They cherish bitter feelings toward northern Democrats for conspiring with them to accomplish secession and then giving them no aid whatever when they were called in war They and their people have had enough of that, and leaders among them speak in great derision of utterances from Northern Democratic source which smack of war They say it was just so with their Northern friends before, up to the time when their assistance was wanted in the field

AUTHORITY FOR DEMOCRATS.

[From the N Y Times]

During the debates which took place in the Senate at the last session on the bill for regulating the counting of the Electoral votes, several of the propositions now freely urged by the Democratic journals with reference to the count next February received incidental attention, and we now lay before our readers the opinions of several of the most prominent Democratic Senators on these propositions.

In the first place, it is now suggested by some of the Democratic journals that the twenty second joint rule is still in force No one ventured to bring forward that view in the Senate On the contrary, the abrogation of that rule was advanced as a reason why Senator Morton's bill should pass, since there was no other regulation on the subject In this connection Senator Bayard of Delaware referred to the action of the Senate in wiping out the rule and added The concurrence of the House of Representatives could not make the joint rule remain Mr Whyte said that it was the beginning of this session of Congress that the States of the United States should unite for the work of reform and annihilate a joint rule, which was an anomaly This is conclusive as to the theory that the joint rules constitute that peculiar kind of a contract which requires two parties to make and which only one of the two can surrender There is not only no authority for but there is good Democratic authority against the notion that the House can fall from out a vote from my State under the twenty second joint rule, and so get the election into Congress

The second main proposition of the Democrats is that there is in the House as an inherent right to have in the counting of the vote and that that is not a process, which is limited to the President of the Senate Of this point Senator Boyd said Were the two houses of Congress ever intended to become the judges of the Electoral vote of the people of this country? Apparently, by the Constitution their duties would seem to be of a mmi terial character only They were to stand by and witness the counting and hear pe ence in that way, without the right to have in the counting of the vote and that that is not a process, which is limited to the President of the Senate Of this point Senator Boyd said Were the two houses of Congress ever intended to become the judges of the Electoral vote of the people of this country? THE LOUISIANA RETURNING BOARD.

Various Misstatements Corrected.

The Findings of the Investigating Committee of 1875.

LEWISTON, Nov 22 Congressman Wm P Frye, a member of the Louisiana Investigating Committee of 1875, publishes a communication in the Lewiston Journal in which he says that his committee did not condemn the Louisiana Returning Board for any fraudulent act or want of fairness, but that on the contrary the evidence convinced the committee that the members of the Board had not erred in their findings of fact The committee simply found that the Board had made a mistake in their construction of the law as to their right to investigate alleged violence and frauds, where the fact of such violence or fraud had not been certified by the Supervisors of Election Mr Frye speaks in the highest terms of the members of the Board and says from his knowledge of them he only fears that in the desire to escape even the suspicion of partiality to the Republicans they will lean too much to the other side

An extensive dealer in firearms in Chambers street, said he had done a good trade in shot guns in Southern States during the fall His customers had been merchants and dealers in hardware who had bought these weapons in lots from half a dozen to a dozen in nearly every bill of goods purchased A member of a firm in Maiden Lane said he thought it safe to say that from 10,000 to 8 000 stand of arms had been shipped South from this city during the three months previous to the election and a large quantity of arms and ammunition also distributed throughout the South from Baltimore and other Southern cities, purchased direct from the manufacturers.

Action of the Court with Reference to the Legislature.

COLUMBIA, Nov 22 The Supreme Court to-day issued a peremptory mandamus to the Board of State Canvassers to issue certificates to the members of the Senate and House of Representatives, appearing on the face of the returns to be elected the final contest in the Houses to be decided by the members themselves Plus gives in the Senate 18 Republicans, 15 Democrats, and in the House 60 Republicans and 64 Democrats The Legislature counts the vote for Governor and Lieut. Governor, and elects a United States Senator The Court has decided to consider the other contests separately and will hear arguments as to counting the Electoral vote

Statement of the Board of Canvassers

COLUMBIA, Nov 23—Evening The Board of State Canvassers, yesterday, made a report to the Supreme Court, stating the persons who had received the highest number of votes for the offices for which they were candidates Appended to the report of the results was a memorandum of the Board, stating that in their opinion certain irregularities which affected some of the Republican candidates should be corrected, and also that the votes of Laurens and Edgefield counties which gave large Democratic majorities, should be excluded on account of frauds and intimidation

The Democratic Judges Proposing to Usurp the Functions of the Board and Give the State to Hampton and Tilden Regardless of Legality and Justice

This morning the Court made an order commanding the Board to issue certificates of election to all persons who were shown by the report of the Board to have received the highest number of votes for members of the Legislature, including the counties of Edgefield and Laurens The Court also to-day took up the case of Presidential Electors and issued a rule on the Board to show cause why they should not correct the statements of the County Canvassers by the precinct returns in their possession

The action of the Board created much excitement but citizens are determined to rely upon the Courts and exhaust all legal means of redress

Wickliffe, Elector at-large on the Democratic ticket, was excluded from the room notwithstanding he had the day before received a note from the President of the Board inviting his attendance President Wells said Gov. Wickliffe could only be present in case of a contest The latter gave notice that he would file a protest The Board went into Executive session The following named gentlemen composing the Democratic and Republican visiting committee, remaining in the room Democrats—Messrs Palmer, Trumbull, Julian, G B Smith and Bigler Republicans—Messrs. The Injunction and Mandamus Business—Success of a Democratic Reporter.

TALLAHASSEE, Nov 23. There is perfect quiet in political circles here. Everything is suspended to await the contest before Judge White to-morrow, when the injunction against the Governor will either be confirmed or withdrawn, and the case of the mandamus against the Canvassing Board compelling them to begin work will be decided. The Judge arrived to-night. The result can hardly be reached in one day.

It is impossible to discover the course the counsel for the Governor will take, but it is believed he will deny the right of the Court to issue an injunction against him. It is said on the other hand that accepting the jurisdiction of the Court, he will go into an elaborate defense of his right to canvass the Electoral vote.

The city is crowded with strangers, every train from the North bringing new comers. There will doubtless be an appeal from Judge White's decision, no matter what it is.

Following is the full text of the Engineer's (Mr E R. Emerson) report to the Mayor on the Extension of the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad after making an examination in behalf of the city

To the Hon W. B Hayford, Mayor of the City of Bangor

SIR —In compliance with your request to make a careful examination of the extension of the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad from Abbot to Blanchard and report upon the character of the work done, and to state what more, if anything, would be necessary to be done to render the roadbed and superstructure, first class, I have the honor to submit the following report

While engineers may differ as to all the requirements that must be complied with in order to render a road first class, there are certain essential points upon which all are agreed, and it is in reference to these points particularly that the examination of the work done on this extension has been made And first in regard to cleaning and grubbing from the surface of the ground to be occupied by embankment, it is required that all trees, bushes, logs and other perishable materials shall be removed or burned When the natural surface of the ground is less than three feet below the grade line all stumps and roots are to be grubbed out and removed beyond the limits of the embankments, and when the surface of the ground is between three feet and six feet below the grade live trees and stumps are to be cut off close to the surface of the ground and that all perishable materials shall be excluded from the embankments

From my own observations and the admissions of the Engineer, Mr Hilton, and the Contractor, Mr Sawyer, I am satisfied that none of these requirements were met in the construction of this extension In no case was the surface of the ground occupied by the embankments cleared of the logs and perishable materials Stumps were not grubbed out, nor cut off close to the surface of the ground within the limits above mentioned Stumps and other perishable materials taken from the surface of excavations were put into the embankments The use of trees and brush between stations 407 and 412 to carry the embankment over a peat bog, from nine feet to fifteen feet deep, was in accordance with the practice of the best Engineers, though the materials used, might, perhaps, have been better disposed

The embankments and cuts were generally narrow and but little ditching had been done but the Contractor was connecting these faults as rapidly as the nature of the work would allow

The culvert masonry is very good the culverts well located and ample for the drainage of the road There is but one bridge on this portion of the line a Trestle bridge from station 607+20 to 610, the approaches to this bridge are safe for the present, but when the embankments have become settled and firm, stone abutments should be built to receive the ends of the track stringers The braces extending from the posts to underside of track stringers are supported by planks spiked to the posts with cut spikes These should have been bolted through the posts or spiked with two wrought iron spikes one-half inch by eight inches under the foot of each brace, with this exception the work appeared to be well done, and the bridge firm and stiff under the passage of trains

The cross ties are principally of cedar and hackmatack, but few hemlock and ash being used A large number of the ties are but eight feet long and many having five inches face and less for this gauge the ties should be nine feet long and none should have less than six inches face

The spaces between the ties are not uniform as they should be to afford an equal support to the rail

The iron appears to be of excellent quality and the fish plates of approved pattern The spikes are of good quality of iron At several points the spikes were not properly driven, and men were at work re spiking

The station buildings at Blanchard are not completed, but so far as the work had progressed it appeared to be well done and the buildings ample for all the business likely to be done at this station

The grades as indicated upon the profile furnished me by the Engineer Mr Hilton, have generally been closely followed but in consequence of no grade stakes having been put in since the first location of the road the grades between the points where a change of grade occurs are very irregular, for instance on one section of the line the rate of grade was one and one tenth (1 1-10) feet per one hundred (100) feet or say fifty eight (58) feet per mile, the rate of grades, as constructed, varied between the several stations from nine feet per mile to one hundred and ten (110) feet per mile while the extreme points differed only twenty-five one-hundredths of a foot from the the grade shown in the profile Other sections show the same variations, some more and some less Grade stakes should be driven to guide the workmen, and without which the surface of the iron cannot readily be brought into a straight line

The alignment as furnished me by the Engineer, has also been closely followed, slight irregularities occur in the curves and on the tangents, but not sufficient to affect the safe working of the road.

Mr Hilton, the Engineer, states that the Contractors were required to put, on the road-bed two thousand (2000) cubic yds of ballast per mile, but that they were putting on rather more than that amount The character of the soil generally, on the line of this extension would require a less amount of gravel to preserve a dry and elastic bearing for the superstructure than obtains on most road, but there should be here not less than three thousand six hundred and sixty seven (3667) cubic yards per mile, and this amount would be required to bring the road up to the established grade, provided that the embankments had been brought up to full subgrade and were regular and of full width; the irregularities of the road bed at subgrade, and the amount lost over the sides of narrow embankments would largely increase this amount

In conclusion I have to say that while the Contractor, Mr Sawyer, appears to be willing to do all that can be required of him under his contract, the most serious difficulty lies in the impossibility, except at great cost, of removing the perishable material put into the embankments. It is possible that no greater injury may result from this, than the cost of keeping the embankments up to grade, by the constant addition of gravel as subsidence takes place from the natural decay of the stumps, logs, and trees put into the work.

Very Respectfully,
Your Obedient Servant,
E R. EMERSON.

Following is the full text of the report made to the stockholders of the B. & P. road, by the committee appointed by the Directors, which we republish, as it refers to matters of interest to the whole community.

At a meeting of the Directors of said Company held on the 30th day of August, the undersigned were appointed a committee to investigate the system of tariff which existed between said Company and the E. & N. A. Railway Company prior to the time to fulfill contracts, and also to report a plan for the future operation of the road, and further to investigate and report all rights of property as existing between the B. & P. R. R. Company, and any person, or c[illegible]

We have [illegible] the limited [illegible] permit, and respectfully submit the following as the result of our examination

On the first day of December, 1869, the E. & N. A. R. Company contracted with the B. & P. Railroad Company to carry their passengers and freight in the cars of the B. & P. Company over the road of the E. & N. A. Railway, between the stations in Bangor and Oldtown They were also to sell tickets to passengers going from stations on their road to stations on the B. & P. Railroad way bill all freight, collect all freight bills on freight coming from any station on the B. & P. road to any station on their road, unload all articles of freight, not unloaded by the owners, and haul all empty cars necessary for the business free of charge, and account monthly for all money received

In consideration for this service, the B. & P. R. Company, agreed to pay the E. & N. A. Railway Company, for each ton of slate carried to Bangor, fifty cents, calling 4 squares a ton, for each ton of iron, fifty cents, for certain articles named in the freight tariff of the E. & N. A. Company, on which there were specific rates one-half the rates named, in the E. & N. A. Tariff and for all other articles of freight sixty cents per ton, and twenty five cents for each passenger from Bangor and intermediate stations, to the B. & P. Railroad, and also to sell tickets for passengers and way bill all freight from any of their stations to any station on the E. & N. A. Railroad and collect all money for freight from the L. & N. A. Railroad to the B. & P. Road, and account for the money monthly This arrangement was to continue until the first day of January 1872 and until either party should give the other three months notice to terminate it At the expiration of the time named the rates paid for passenger and freight transportation not proving satisfactory to the B. & P. Company, they asked for a reduction and an arrangement was made, April 1, 1872, between the two companies that the rates on freight should be reduced ten per cent and that passengers between Oldtown Orono Veazie and Bangor be carried for twenty cents each and between Greenwoods station and Old town ten cents each, and that the superintendents agree upon rates for excursions This system of tariff rates between the two Companies continued in force until the lease of the B. & P. Railroad to the Consolidated E. & N. A. Railway Company on the first day of April 1873 The gross total amount received by the B. & P. Co. grew for passengers freight and mails for the year 1870 1871 and 1872, after paying the F. & N. A Company their proportion of the earnings of the Road and also the allowance to Stage and Steamboat Companies was for 1870, $89 837 51, for 1871 $78 130 97 and for 1872 $80 267 01 being a gain of over 10 per cent in the gross earnings in 2 years During these years, there were paid to the E. & N. A Company, not included in the above sums for freight and passengers, $10 771 of $20,744 01 and $16 - 21 65 It will be noticed that though the gross income of the road was over $7 000 more in 1872 than in 1871 there was paid to the European Company more than $4 000 less in 1872 than in 1871 This was an undoubted owing to the reduction of the rates of freight and passengers

During the continuance of the lease no separate account of the earnings and expenses of the Piscataquis road was kept except for the months of May, June, July August and Septemaber Hence it can not be ascertained whether the road earned enough to pay the interest on its indebtedness It is claimed by the European that it did not

Since the first of May a separate account has been kept showing the gross earning for 4 months to Sept $20 343 10 and expense $16 238 as leaving a net of $13 162 64

We are informed by the Superintendent that since the termination of the lease the road has been managed by the E. & N. A Railway Company, and that a separate account of the earnings and so far as practicable of the expenses has been kept

We have made some enquiries as to the property turned over to the E. & N. A Company, at the time of the lease We have a copy of the inventory and have been furnished by the engineer and superintendent with a schedule of the property now on hand A large part of the real estate features except the usual wear and a few alterations is in the same condition as when leased the principal changes are these The wood shed at Oldtown has been converted into a building for bridge lumber A water station has been erected at Alton a large wood shed has been built at South Sebec with materials taken from the car house at Foxcroft and Dover the station at Dover has been moved to Abbot and that at Guilford, to Blanchard

Of the rolling stock the four engines are reported on hand and in very good condition Two passenger two baggage and one flange car and one snow plow are reported being the number leased Three were leased to the Company in May six box and thirty eight flat cars three covered flat cars for ordinary use and one cattle car We are informed that three of the flat cars have been changed into box cars Hence there should be 29 box cars whereas there are only 27, and there are only 34 flat cars There is also a loss of 4 platform cars We are informed that those cars were all lost before the present Superintendent took charge of the road There was also delivered to the E. & N. A Company a quantity of tools and fixtures amounting 2 tons at Bangor and the other at Dover The inventory shows that Mattawamkeag grives as an invoice that all the tools and fixtures can be found Plus can be ascertained only by some person having with him the inventory of the articles leased and making a personal examination of the articles Most or all of the iron on the side tracks of the B. & P. Road has been taken up and placed on the European and replaced by iron from the old Bangor and Oldtown Rail Road It is said to be one mile or more in length

Three plans for the management of the Road have been suggested

1st To lease it for an agreed per cent of the gross earnings 2nd To place it under the supervision of the officers of the E. & N. A Road keeping distinct and separate accounts of the earnings and expenses, and paying a fair part of the salaries of the supervising officers and such incidental expenses as are common to both roads and 3d to manage the road as it was managed before the lease

Each of these plans has some advantages over the other two as well as disadvantages The first plan is the most simple After the percentages shall be agreed on it is easy to arrive at a given percentage of an ascertained amount But there are not sufficient data to serve as a basis for making a just division of the gross earnings of the road For more than three years, no separate account of the earnings or expenses of the road were kept With the imperfect knowledge we have on that subject, a reasonable approximation to an equitable line of division of the earnings could hardly be arrived at Besides in the matter of repairs, there would always be a clashing of interests as to how much or how few repairs should be made on the road.

The second plan contemplates separate accounts in everything except where there is a common service, partly for one road, and partly for the other, as the salaries of the superintendent, some other officers, office rent, etc Undoubtedly there would be some saving in this direction But it occurs to us that there must be the same working force on the road, whether it is run on this plan or as an independent road

The third plan has its disadvantages, in the matters in which the second plan has its advantages, that is, it involves the necessity of employing and paying to a certain extent, a separate set of officers. We are not advised how much additional expense this would incur. It will depend, of course, on the number of officers to be employed, and their salaries. [illegible] upon which [illegible] can be made with the E. & N. A. Road to supervise the road. It will be the difference between these salaries and whatever sum must be paid to the other road To this difference should be added such other incidental expenses as office rent, etc.

But there are some weighty considerations for running the road separately as before the lease As the road has been absorbed, as it were, by the European for more than three years, [illegible] account having been kept of the earnings and expenditures, it can not be known, how much business has been done on it. The returns of the [illegible] over the road [illegible] still is no adequate test. Besides, the business of the road needs encouraging. It requires the assiduous attention of men devoted exclusively to its interests. It will not be good policy to attempt to make a few hundred dollars in salaries, and lose many times as much in freight and other business This road is a cheap road to run, said to be the cheapest in New England so that if business can be attracted to it a large proportion of the earnings will be [illegible]

It the road is ever to have a separate management, now, seems to us, to be as favorable a time as any to begin it The European is not in a condition to give it aid. It has not the authority to extend assistance. Still we are not prepared to recommend this measure without farther examination

We recommend that a committee be appointed to make a schedule of all its personal property, and take possession of it This step will be necessary whatever arrangements there be made as to the future operations of the road

We also recommend that this same committee, or another, be appointed to confer with the E. & N. A. R. Company to see what arrangements, if any, can be made with them to aid in running the road as contemplated in the second plan or to run it on any other plan, and also what additional officers, and what additional expense will be incurred in operating the road as before the lease

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made in morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A M, and from 8½ to 9 P M. Sundays from 9½ to 10½ A M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed on the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

☞ The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $2.80 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes

cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.
